A system, method and computer program product are provided for affording a bid manager. First, a plurality of projects is managed each including a plurality of tasks. Further, the tasks associated with each project are displayed to bidders for soliciting bids. As such, bidder identifiers and bid amounts may be received for each of the tasks. A list of the tasks may be displayed for each project with the associated bidder identifier and bid amount positioned adjacent each corresponding task. This facilitates management of the bids by a user.
